

Choose Your Own Adventure Nature Camp

Thorne's two-week Choose Your Own Adventure Nature Camp was designed with a safety first approach to providing a private and customizable nature camp experience during the time of COVID-19. As the title implies, this camp will truly allow small groups of 4 or fewer campers to build their ultimate nature camp experience. Parents, with lots of enthusiastic input from their children, will have the opportunity to customize camp times, locations, and activities and might even be able to select their favorite Thorne instructor. And, the customization won't stop there, because the real magic of Thorne camp happens when our expert instructors guide campers into activities that build upon their daily and ever abundant nature discoveries. Beyond focusing on customizable activities which could include nature art, biking, shelter building, birding, survival skills, or fishing; campers can expect to have their curiosity and engagement piqued through daily investigations, quests, and adventures that are tailored to the unique interests of their group. Because this camp is infinitely customizable and there is always more to discover in nature, the Choose Your Own Adventure Nature Camp can be repeated multiple times over the course of a summer, with participants getting a healthy dose of summer fun each time!
