

What makes an excellent Thorne Summer Camp Instructor?

You...

- Love to play outside!
- Enjoy engaging with children through outdoor exploration
- Are curious about nature and can be outdoors in various weather conditions
- Thrive in a role as a mentor and consider yourself a “life-long learner”
- Are highly relational and an effective communicator
- Care about equity and diversity
- Enjoy working in a progressive, intentional, collaborative, and nature loving team of dedicated and talented individuals
- Are inspired to provide youth with joyful, hands-on, place-based environmental education experiences that foster an emotional connection to nature.

Thorne’s Summer Camp Instructors take their love of nature to the next level! With over 60 years of expertise leading outdoor programs, we combine the best activities of summer into one camp.

Thorne offers two-weeklong day camps in Boulder and Lafayette for children ages 5-15. Themes include crafting, nature art, wild nature play, survival skills, and scientific discovery. Instructors mentor with just the right mix of exploration and hands-on learning. Because campers and instructors have the chance to explore their own passions, each session is unique. Thorne also believes that nature is for everyone. 25% of our campers receive full scholarships to help ensure access for all.
